

George Soules:

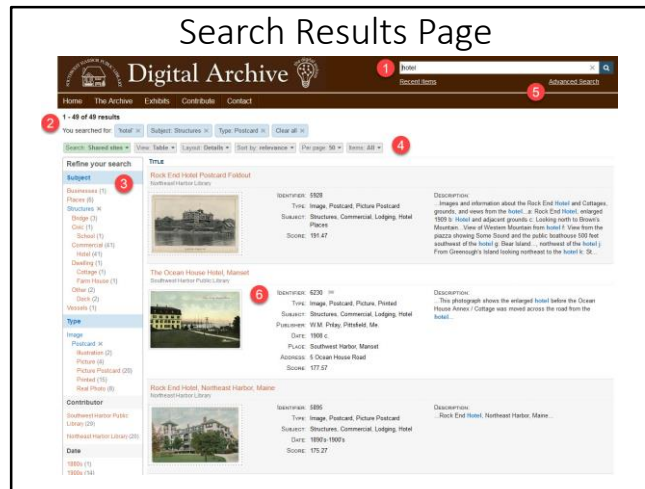

- Volunteer archivist who works on the project with curator Charlotte Morrill
- Trustee at the Southwest Harbor Public Library
- Software architect who created the Digital Archive

The Digital Archive:

- Makes images, maps, documents, and publications, accessible online
- A fun and easy way for people to discover what's in a collection
- Shows real-world relationships among items in a collection

A College of the Atlantic student's visual interpretation of the Digital Archive.

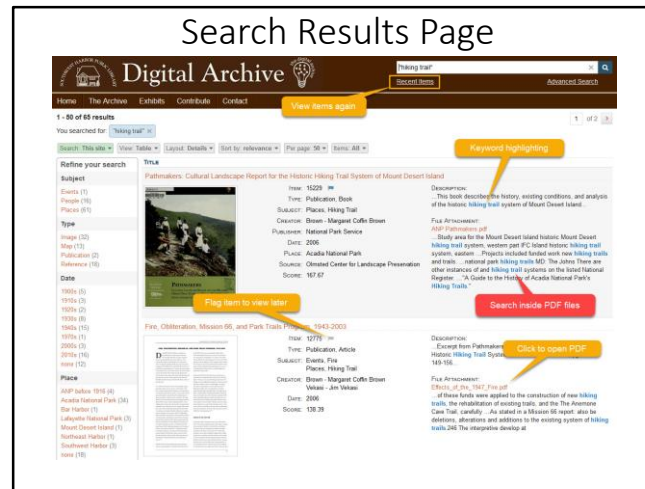

The Search Results page has six primary features which are generally used in the following order:

1. The search box is where you type keywords to search for.
2. The results summary section shows you the search criteria for the search results.
3. Facets allow you to add or remove filters that let you narrow or expand the search results.
4. View selectors let you change how search results are presented to you.
5. The Advanced Search link takes you to the Advanced Search page.
6. The results area shows a thumbnail and metadata for each result.

Results are ordered by relevance.

You can also sort them by a field you specify.

Other features of the Search Results page include:

- Recently viewed items link
- Recently viewed item flag
- Keyword highlighting
- Searchable PDF text
- Click to open a PDF file

An item is considered to be recently viewed if you click its title to view the item or if you click its flag.

The Search Results page display additional information when you are logged in as an administrator.

- A black menu bar at the top to access administrative features.
- One-click access to the archival storage for an item’s assets (shown in a later slide).
- Private fields that are hidden from public users.
- Administrative links that allow you to view or edit the item in the admin interface, or add relationships to the item (shown in a later slide).

Searching

Suggestions as you Type

The screenshot shows the Digital Archive website interface. At the top, the title "Suggestions as you Type" is centered. Below it, the website header includes the "Digital Archive" logo and navigation links: Home, The Archive, Exhibits, Contribute, and Contact. A search bar at the top right contains the text "rock".

The main content area displays search results for "rock". On the left, there is a sidebar with "Refine your search" options under "Subject" (Business (1), Places (8), Structures (4), Bridges (2), Cars (1), School (1), Commercial (41), Head (47), Dwelling (7), College (1), Farm House (1), Other (2), Rock (2), Vessels (7)) and "Type" (Image (1), Postcard (4), Illustration (2), Picture (6), Picture-Postcard (20), Postcard (8), Real Photo (8)).

User Interface

Area (4) contains a set of dropdown lists that you can use to select how search results are displayed.

From left to right, the view selectors control:

- Whether only the local site is searched or all sharing sites are searched.
- Whether the results are displayed as a table, index, or grid.
- How table results are displayed.
- The order in which results are displayed. The options are by relevance or by a specific field.
- The number of results that appear on each page.
- Whether all results are displayed, or only those that have an image.

This slide shows a search for items with the 'Subject: Vessels' and 'Type: Document' facets applied.

There are 58 results sorted by title in ascending order with 100 results per page and only items with images showing.

Because the Search selector is set to 'Shared sites' the name of the contributing organization appears under each thumbnail.

This slide shows the same 58 results as the previous slide, but displayed on a large monitor where there is room to show 48 items.

This slide shows the View selector set to 'Index' and the Index by selector set to 'Title.'

The 301 search results are for the keyword 'hotel' and the 'Type: Photograph' facet.

The screen shot shows just partial results for titles A – C and R – S.

A title followed by a number in parenthesis indicates multiple items with the same title e.g. 'A Claremont House Cottage (8)'

There are fewer entries in the index because:

- Many items were made by the same creator
- Some items have no creator metadata.

Search Results Interface

The screenshot shows the Digital Archive search results interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "hotel" and a search button. Below the search bar, there are navigation links: Home, The Archive, Exhibits, Contribute, and Contact. The search results are displayed in a grid format with three columns. The first column contains facets for Subject, Type, and Contributor. The second column contains the title and a small thumbnail image for each result. The third column contains the identifier, type, subject, date, score, and a brief description for each result.

Search Tips

You can use the following special characters in the Search Box above and at left in the Keywords field, and in the Contains condition:

- before a keyword makes it required
- before a keyword excludes it
- wraps a phrase to search for
- signifies OR
- after a keyword signifies a wildcard
- and signify precedence

For an open-ended year range such as from 1900 or until 1970, leave either Start or End blank.

To search by Contributor, use the Contributor id from the table shown here.

Search

Advanced Search is useful when you need to search for items that contain text in specific fields.

In this example, the search is for the keyword 'island' where:

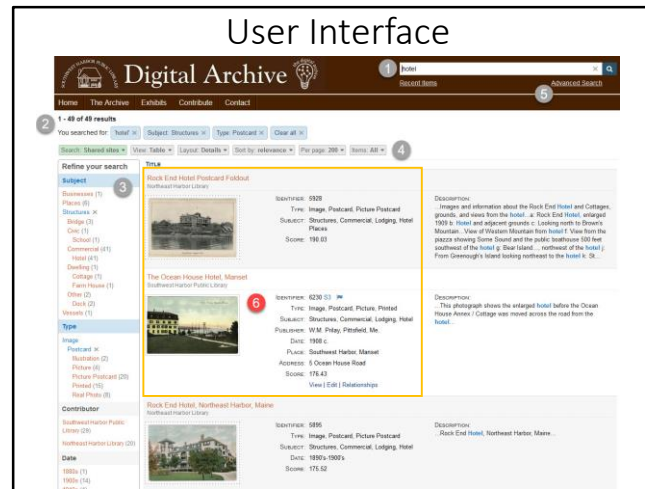

- The Creator field contains either 'motenko' or 'soules' and
- The Subject field does not contain 'people'.

The Search Tips section at right provides powerful search syntax aimed at more advanced users.

The search for the keyword 'island' where the Creator field contains either 'motenko' or 'soules' and the Subject field does not contain 'people' produced 25 results.

These are all contemporary images of historic subjects which connect the past with the present.

Area (6) shows a thumbnail and metadata for each search result.

This rich presentation of information appears when the View selector is set to 'Table' and the Layout selector is set to 'Detail.'

The area within the gold box will be discussed in the slides that follow.

This slide show what you see when clicking on the title of each of the items on the previous slide.

Some images like high resolution photographs and maps lend themselves to being viewed zoomed in.

The title of this image says "Two Men" but it's difficult to see them.

You can make any image zoomable by using the Zoomify program to break the image into tiles.

When you upload the tiles to your server, the Digital Archive will automatically display zoom controls for the image.

Above there are '+', '-', home, and full-screen controls in the upper left, and a navigator frame in the upper right.

You can also click the image or use the mouse scroll wheel to zoom in.

The navigator frame in the upper right displays a red box to indicate which part of the image is visible.

A Man, a Business, a Building, a Place

This single photograph depicts a number things:

- A man, Fred Mayo
- A business, Fred's ice cream parlor
- A place, that is, an address on a street where this business was once located
- A building next door on the right side of the photo

Over time, a number of building and businesses have been located at this same place. How can we keep track of them?

Additional Slides

Recently viewed items appear in order from most recently visited to least recently visited.

You can clear the list by clicking the 'Clear all link'.

Click the 'Show as search results' link to view the items as search results (next slide).

You display recently viewed items as search results for two reasons:

1. Get a URL for the results that you can give to someone else e.g. in an email.
2. To be able to use the view selectors (explained in a later slide) to see the results in either tabular, index, or grid layout.

While viewing a large image, you can click the 'View Item' link to view the item for that image.

On the Southwest Harbor Public Library site, you can click the 'Request Image' link to bring up an image request form.

Access Archived Assets

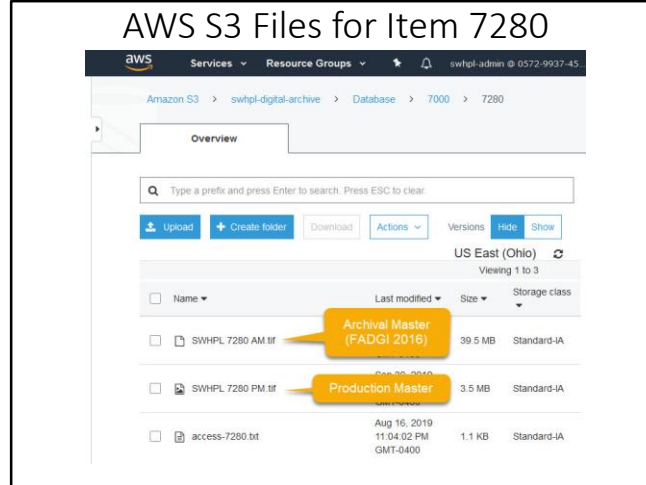

Edit metadata

When logged in as an administrator, you can also access an items archival assets or edit the item's metadata.

This slide shows the Omeka admin interface for editing metadata.

Note that the values for certain fields can be limited by using dropdown pick lists.

This item's assets are its:

- Archival master (tif file created by a flatbed scanner)
- Production master (e.g. edited in Photoshop)
- Additional related files, often derivative images

This diagram provides a high level view of how shared searching works.

- The server for each organization consists of the Digital Archive plugins with an Omeka Classic installation.
- Each installation has its own MySQL database to store metadata.
- Every server maintains a copy of its MySQL data in a shared Amazon AWS Elasticsearch index.
- Whenever an admin for any of the organizations add, edits, or deletes an item, both their local MySQL database and the shared Elasticsearch index get updated instantly.
- Changes made to any organization's data are applied to the Elasticsearch index in real time.
- The Southwest Harbor Public Library utilizes an AWS S3 server to store the archival assets for its items.
